STRIKE REVIEWS.

PROTECTION TO WORKERS ON RETURN.

REASSURING STATEMENTS.

Important statements which should undoubtedly reassure the Chinese were made by Mr. T. H. King, D.S.P. and Director of Criminal Intelligence, yesterday afternoon, when interviewed at Police Headquarters by a reporter representing the vernacular Press.

The reporter pointed out that rumours had been circulating giving the impression that strikers returning to Hongkong were harshly dealt with by the Police, such rumours causing workers to refrain from coming back for fear of getting into trouble. An assurance was sought and given. Mr. King said that during the last fortnight several hundreds had returned to the Colony, this number including skilled labour. After the usual interrogation and bona fides were proved, the returning men were not only given liberty but protection was also extended to them, said Mr. King.

In the interests of peace great care had to be exercised in examining people who came here, such examination being to prevent agitators getting in to create trouble or an unsettled feeling. Inquiries had to be made, but men detained from incoming ships were not manacled when they were taken up to the detective offices to be questioned. Should satisfaction be given by pointing out an employer, or a shop, or by giving a guarantee, those detained were released.

The reporter also asked about the procedure adopted in sending idlers from the Colony in view of rumours having been heard that deportees were put ashore at Chek Wan (which is just beyond Deep Bay, in Chinese territory and a good distance from Canton) because whole batches had been refused admittance into Canton by the authorities up there.

Mr. King replied that no such thing had ever occurred. Owing to the vessels on which deportees were sent away not going along-side wharves at Canton, idlers had to be put ashore in rowing boats; hence arose the Chik Wan rumour—as a matter of fact, no batch had been sent back by Canton, added Mr. King, as quoted by the vernacular papers.

Mr. King also said that the Police had heard of wild stories about agitators who were bent on getting into Hongkong and creating trouble. Accordingly the Police had exercised the greatest care in supervising the arrival of people from other places. The strike had now lasted about two months and the reporter himself, as a pressman, would know that order had been maintained, continued Mr. King. Latterly there had been one or two cases of fuses being let off, but there was no panic over the incidents.

MACAO STEAMERS.

TWO DEPARTURES THIS MORNING.

INTIMIDATION AGAIN?

This morning the Steamboat Co.'s S.S. Sui Tai left as usual for Macao, but the other steamers which fly the British flag are not keeping up the services.

It is stated that intimidation by the Seamen's Union at Canton has had an effect on the crews on arrival at Macao. The Paul Beau left Hongkong this morning, but the Charles Hardouin did not go. The Sai On is stated to be ready to leave to-morrow morning. The Chuen Chow is tied up at Macao and the Ko Chow at Hongkong.

The Steamboat Co.'s vessel, however, is outside the scope of these Chinese-owned boats. Yesterday a fairly large number of passengers came over by the Sui Tai from Macao.

To Swallow Again? It has been stated that the Hydrographer is to leave again for Swatow before the week-end, but that there is little possibility of cargo being carried.

NEW GOVERNOR.

WHEN WILL MR. CLEMENTI ARRIVE?

LOCAL CONJECTURES.

The long expected announcement by the Colonial Office of the choice of a new Governor for Hongkong has naturally been received here with considerable interest and speculation is now rife as to when he may be expected in Hongkong.

It may be recalled in this connection that nearly a twelve month elapsed after the announcement of the appointment to Hongkong of Sir Edward Stubbs before he arrived in Hongkong, leave at Home being granted after his long term of office in Ceylon.

The Hon. Mr. C. Clementi has been three years at Ceylon, and it is not known whether he will proceed Home on vacation before taking over his duties. At any rate, it is thought that Sir Edward Stubbs will remain in Hongkong until the end of the present situation is in sight.

Nothing has been disclosed officially, however, and on enquiry in official quarters in Hongkong the "China Mail" was informed that no news had been received other than the bare announcement of the changes.

RENTS LAW.

THAT FIFTEEN PER CENT INCREASE.

CHINESE TO PETITION.

A petition is to be addressed to the Government asking for the temporary suspension of the 15 per cent. increase in rents, reports the "Wah Kin Yat Po" ("Overseas Chinese Daily News").

On Tuesday night, the vernacular paper states, a meeting was held by the Chinese Tenants' Association when the suggestion was put forward and approved.

It has been pointed out that although the new Rents Ordinance permits an increase of 15 per cent. on the standard rent, a number of landlords has not asked for the higher rental owing to abnormal economic conditions. The working and middle class Chinese, it is stated, are already embarrassed by high costs of living, and it is felt that the increase in rent, although permitted by law, would be too heavy a burden, states the vernacular paper.

TRAM PROTECTION.

INDIAN GUARDS NOW ON DUTY.

INSTILLING CONFIDENCE.

Partly due, in all probability, to Tuesday's incident on a tram and partly in order that Indian watch men and guards from river boats who are at a loose end may be given work to do, the plain clothes police officers, guarding trams have been supplemented by some of these Indian guards.

The "China Mail" understands that there has been no panic as a result of Tuesday's incident, and the numbers using the trams have not decreased. The extra protection is provided merely as a measure to instil greater confidence.

ANOTHER CORDON.

TWENTY SUSPECTS ROPED IN BY POLICE.

ARMED ASSAULT.

Assisted by a detachment of the East Surrey Regiment under command of Captain Drake Brockman, the Police raided the dwellings in an area between Eastern Street, Centre Street, First Street and Second Street, all at West Point, early this morning.

No arms or other weapons were discovered during the course of the raid, which was mainly directed against idlers.

RUNNING FIRE.

CHASE OF ALLEGED MURDERER AT HUNGHOM.

SESSIONS TRIAL.

A Chinese prisoner, who is on trial on a charge of murdering an Indian constable on the hillside, persistently maintained at the Sessions this morning that he was not near the spot where the alleged murder took place at the time, although the European sergeant who carried on a running interchange of shots with a man said that he has no hesitation in identifying the prisoner as that man.

He and two Weihaiwei constables had him in view the whole of the time from when he opened fire on them, said the officer, Sgt. McFadden, and at fifteen yards away he threw down his revolver and they threw themselves upon him.

Prisoner's account was that he had recently arrived from the country and was walking to Hunghom to get into touch with a friend. The police opened fire on him—he did not know what for—and he ran. He had no firearm on him. He did not shoot an Indian constable and he understood that two hours had elapsed between the time of this Indian being shot and his (prisoner's) arrest.

Sgt. McFadden, detailing the running fight, said that the countryside was scoured as soon as the Indian constable returned in a dying condition. Eventually the prisoner was seen about 50 yards away and chase was given. He ran for about 20 yards, and then turned round and fired. Witness returned the fire, and the prisoner again took to his heels and ran in the direction of Lo Lung Hang village. Prisoner fell on his face not far away from the village and fired from the ground at witness and the Weihaiwei constables. Whilst he was there an uproar was heard from the direction of the village and another man, believed to be the second of the men the Indian constable said had stabbed and shot him, was seen running away about 400 yards to their left. L/s. A. 45 gave chase. Meanwhile, witness and the other constables got within fifteen yards of the man they were pursuing and on being called to he threw his revolver away and was arrested.

At the police station the man had said that he did not know the laws of Hongkong and if he had he would not have killed the Indian constable, but in the box this morning he said that he was forced to do this at the Police Station, where he alleged he was ill-treated. He also denied that he was with another man. The case is proceeding.

SIBERIAN MAILS.

ALLEGED TAMPERING BY THE SOVIET.

HONGKONG INQUIRY.

The outward appearance of letters arriving in Shanghai via Siberia has recently raised suspicion that the mail is not altogether immune from prying eyes whilst en route through Soviet hands.

Inspection of a cover which has been forwarded to a contemporary in Shanghai leaves no room for doubt that the envelope had been deliberately cut open through the linen texture and later patched up with official stamps.

This violation of postal secrecy is seriously viewed by business houses in Shanghai, as no massive passing through Russia can be considered private, and the information contained in the letters might well be used by Soviet agents for the commercial benefit of China.

From inquiries made at the General Post Office, the "China Mail" is a positive assurance that so far there has been no tampering with mail arriving out of Hongkong, in Siberia. Unless the latest report is true, the Hongkong Post Office must be in a position to detect any such tampering.

FATAL CLASH.

EXCITING SCENES IN TIENTSIN.

RIOTERS COWED.

(Reuter's Service.)

Tientsin, August 13.

A riot took place shortly after the withdrawal of the main police guard from the cotton mills last night. A crowd of rioters attacked the mills and destroyed the machinery. The strikers were reinforced by farmers and peasants from neighbouring villages. Before this an angry crowd made the small police guard absolutely helpless.

All machines were damaged and the loss is estimated at $1,000,000 in one mill alone.

When the news reached the Chinese Yamen, a strong force of police and military was sent to round up the rioters.

Early this morning 800 police and soldiers were around the mills and a crowd estimated at 10,000, who greeted the guards with showers of stones and mud. The troops then attempted to arrest a number of the most prominent agitators, but were strongly resisted. The position of the guards then became serious, many being roughly handled, and rifle butts being used freely, but the rioters appeared to be deterred not to give any quarter, and the guards were compelled to fire low at first and then to kill.

Police Too Strong.

Riots then ensued amid an indescribable scene of panic. Unable to get away from the rifles of the police, the leading ranks of rioters turned to fight those behind, while the unlucky ones dropped dead or were wounded. Many jumped in the Haiho River to avoid bullets and a number are believed to have been drowned. The total casualties are believed to be in the neighbourhood of 60, of which eight were killed. No police were killed, but several were badly injured.

Later 376 rioters were arrested and taken under a strong guard to the Yamen on the ex-Austrian Concession.

The police have now closed all Labour Union Offices in the Chinese city and arrested many Union officials. No gatherings of students and strikers are being allowed.

The Chinese authorities are now giving full protection to crews of steamers. The police escorted a number of men to Tongku, where they are embarking on vessels. This action is necessary owing to the kidnapping of several Chinese members of British crews.

YAUMATI ROBBERY.

FIVE CHINESE ON TRIAL AT SESSIONS.

A LADY'S PLUCK.

The five Chinese arrested in connection with an armed robbery at the house of Mrs. Paula Rojas, Tung Hing Road, Yaumati, on July 3 appeared at the Criminal Sessions this morning.

Mr. de Barredo, professor of Spanish, described how he had finished time at the house and was surprised in a cubicle by the robbers. He had a watch and $40 in money taken from him and was bound to a chair, gagged and threatened with knives. Mrs. Rojas was brought into the same room by one of the robbers armed with a knife, but pushed the man to one side when she got inside the room and ran to the verandah calling for help. The robbers took fright and ran from the house and the police were informed. Witness identified three of the men, and an Englishman identified another as the man who had presented a parcel at the door in order that the robbers might have the opportunity of effecting an entrance.

The case is proceeding.

FRENCH STRIKE.

BANK CLERKS ACTIVE IN THE PROVINCES.

GOVERNMENT'S DECISION.

(Reuter's Service.)

Paris, August 12.

The strike of employees of some of the smaller banks, especially in the provinces, demanding increase in salaries, is beginning to assume importance owing to its effect on the subscriptions to the Consolidation Loan in regard to which it is now reported that lists close on September 19 instead of September 5, owing to the strike.

The matter was discussed at a Cabinet meeting after which the Minister for Labour announced that he would introduce a Bill aiming at a compulsory conciliation of labour disputes.

Work For Glaziers.

Paris, August 12.

A number of striking bank clerks demonstrated at the Place Trocadero. They broke the windows in several bank buildings. They were dispersed by the police, but reassembled in another square. They were again dispersed and went to the Boulevards. Two were arrested.—Reuter.

AIR FLIGHTS.

DI PINEDO ARRIVES AT COOKTOWN.

(Reuter's Service.)

Brisbane, August 12.

The Marchese Di Pinedo has arrived at Cooktown, at the mouth of the Endeavour River, in North Queensland.

[The Marchese is flying from Rome to Tokyo via Australia, where he has been enthusiastically received.]

FUTILE EFFORT.

French Flier Returns Home.

(Reuter's Service.)

Paris, August 12.

Captain Arrachart has returned to Le Bourget.

An earlier message reads: Captain Arrachart, accompanied by the engineer, M. Carol, left Villa Conblay at 4.50 a.m. on Monday to attempt to circumnavigate Europe in three days. He reached Belgrade at 12.45 in the afternoon, Constantinople at 6 p.m., Moscow at 9 p.m. on Tuesday, and telegraphed to the Under-Secretary for Air that they were warmly received in Moscow.

RIFFS FLEE.

NOTABLE FRANCO-SPANISH SUCCESS.

AERIAL PURSUIT.

(Reuter's Service.)

Paris, August 13.

From Wezzan, a liaison of Franco-Spanish troops took place at Loukkos on Tuesday, resulting in a very satisfactory manner. The Riffs fled in disorder northward, pursued by French aircraft. Several tribes are negotiating with the object of submitting to the French.

The new developments have had a most beneficial effect on the morale of the French troops.

BRITISH TRADE.

SHREDS AND PATCHES.

We all drink, even if our refreshment is mildly
"soft" or the opposite.
There is a trade note that in 1924
Canada's shipment of beverages were valued at $11,000,000 (gold).
There is also a vague item of the $44,000,000 (gold) of Canadian liquor "said to have been responsible for the recent rise in the value of the Dominion's dollar."
Perhaps a Hongkong Canadian can explain it.

Opinions differ as to which plat-tudes and
bromides are the most hackneyed, but this collection, assembled in London, ought to go far as a prize winner.

Sir James Barrie is whimsical.
Max Beerbohm is incomparable.
Winston Churchill is erratic-
ly brilliant.
June is the month of roses.
Kent is an orchard.
Bernard Shaw is a daring
iconoclast.
Sussex villages are "old world."
The sky in Italy is of a dazzling blue.
The mountains are snow-
capped heights.
Wordsworth is a nature lover.
Epstein is a pioneer.

Hongkong has a few:—

Shipping is the life blood of the Colony.
Repulse Bay is the Mentone of the East.
The harbour is the finest (or one of the finest) in the world.

The water supply is pure (ascribed to the analyst).
Hongkong is an outpost of the Empire.

The Lord Chan-
celor has said that the Government propose to introduce legislation—though not perhaps, this session—to remove the grievance of married men who are to-day liable by law for the torts and debts of their wives.

We imagine that there will be a fairly general consensus of opinion that there is no need to appoint a Select Committee to examine the rights and wrongs of this obvious case. Lord Haldane explained that the present responsibility of the husband for the caprices and the wrongdoing of his wife is an inheritance from common law which regarded the husband and wife as one person. That belongs to the past. The women have abundantly asserted a right, which the law has recognised, to be regarded as "separate entities." They have a separate right to property, a separate vote, and a separate and "equal" personality. Men are not even allowed, Lord Darling reminded us, to restrain their wives' extravagance by beating them. Why, then, should they be expected to pay their debts or the damages charged against them, except in so far as a wife may be deemed to have been acting as her husband's agent?

The new big road.
The King opened
the other day in England is remarkable by reason of the fact that it is decreed that it shall not be dug up for either gas, electricity, drains, or anything else.
Could not the idea be copied in Hongkong? How often are our roads opened up, closed, and reopened again. It reminds us of the story of the man who was operated on. They sawed him up and found they had left a sponge inside. After re-opening and resawing it was discovered that a surgical instrument was missing, and again he was opened and restituted. This went on for a bit longer until a weary voice from the operating table was heard to say—"Put buttons on!"

THE FATE OF THE TSAR.

The circumstances attending the murder of the late Tsar and his family have never yet been fully cleared up, though many attempts have been made to collate the various scraps of information that have come to light.

In the Archiv für Politik und Geschichte, Herr J. Lewin has made a further attempt based upon M. Sokoloff's book, "The Murder of the Tsar and his Family," to which he has added some minute researches of his own. From this it would appear that attempts were made by various Russian monarchists at the time of the Tsar's arrest to secure the intervention of Count Mirbach, then German diplomatic representative in Russia, and himself afterwards murdered by the Bolsheviks. Count Mirbach's attitude, however, was very cool and, typically German. A letter was addressed to him by Count Benckendorff, the chief marshal of the Russian Court, with the request that it should be forwarded to the Kaiser. This letter was delivered in Moscow on May 7, or May 8, 1918, when the Tsar was still in Ekaterinburg. There is apparently no evidence that it was ever sent on. Moreover, M.
Kryvoshein, the former Minister of Agriculture, also attempted to induce Count Mirbach to intervene. But the German diplomatic representative replied at a time when many Germans thought Germany thought Germany had already won the war. "All that is happening in Russia now is an absolutely natural and inevitable consequence of Germany's victory.

History is once more repeating itself
—woe to the vanquished." If the Emperor had won the position of Germany would have been far worse than that of Russia. The fate of the Russian Tsar lies solely in the hands of the Russian people.
If there were any questions of influence it would be only in favour of any former German princes who happened to be in Russia.

Thus, as Herr Lewin shows, the Germans abandoned the Tsar and his family to their fate. That fact he traces with minute care from the point of the departure of the Tsar from Tsarskoe Selo to the shooting with revolvers in the house at Ekaterinburg and the murder of other members of the Romanoff family by hurling them alive down a disused mine-shaft 60 feet deep.

Some of the men who took part in the murder have been traced and their information has been placed on record. Two had written their names on the wall of the prison, one a Hungarian and the other an Austrian-Tyroler, while in the writing of a third there was the inscription in German, "Bulshazzer was killed the same night by his servants." So the Cheka agents who did the murder were not all Russian. Herr Lewin suggests that German official sources might throw considerable light upon the murder if they were made available.

It has always been made plain by the central Soviet Government that the murder of the Tsar and his family was the irresponsible work of the (Red) Soviet, and that it did not know of the fact till afterwards. In a book entitled "The Workmen's Revolution," in the Days of now were safe because suppressed by the Bolsheviks, the former Soviet President, Ekaterin-burg, D. M. Ryloff, has described the last days of the Tsar, and in this he says that the Commissary Takoboff, telegraphed to Moscow that he proposed to take the Tsar and his family from Tobolsk to a "safe place" as the Government of U.R.S.S. (Soviet), however, thought that the initiative came from Averdon, then President of the Central Executive Committee, who nominated two others, namely, Golodetschek, who was coman-der in the Ural district, and Krupsky, the chief of the Cheka.
Researches into his code telegrams of the Soviet Government certainly appear to indicate that the Central Executive Committee arranged for the murder of the Tsar, and probably also of his family, and seemed to have been in the habit of sending orders to the Cheka to execute the murder.

AMERICAN OPINION.

To Governors only are public welcomes and farewells given in this Colony. The owner of the hand that is to guide
this "little state" is not addressed, and the community is given an opportunity of seeing at first hand the man who combines in himself so many and responsible offices. It would be a good thing if a ceremony of some kind could be arranged in connection with those who are appointed to conduct the Government of Hongkong, and the community is given an opportunity of seeing at first hand the man who combines in himself so many and responsible offices. It would be a good

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

When Grimsby magistrates had before them a workless man who had pawned his war medals to avoid begging they made a collection on his behalf.

For the 24 hours ended Tuesday, the return of notifiable diseases shows one case of diphtheria, one of enteric fever and one of puerperal fever—all Chinese.

The Medical School of the Middlesex Hospital has received a gift of £20,000 from the Right Hon. Thomas Robinson Ferens, P.C., of Hull, for the foundation of an institute of otology, to be devoted to research into the structure, functions, and diseases of the ear, nose, and throat.

An unemployed young girl in Exeter on last Rose Day offered her services as an unpaid collector. During the day she reported at the local labour exchange, and an official there came to the conclusion that although she was getting no pay she was working within the meaning of the Act, and he stopped half-a-crown.

Wonderful coolness and bravery were shown by the nurses when fire broke out at the West Ham Guardians' Central Home in Leytonstone. In the midnight hours came the alarm awakening the inmates. The nurses at once set to work to clear two wards, accommodating 110 patients. Never one scream or cry was heard, although all were bedridden or mental cases.

The correspondent to "The Times" of London, who wrote recently upon the frequent bandying of the word "liar" across the floor of the House of Commons, a practice which he urged, hardly adds to the dignity of debate, was more than justified in his complaint. In his letter he recalls the phrase used by an old clergyman named Palmer, a nephew of the great Sir Joshua Reynolds, who, finding himself using that unsavory word too frequently, substituted for it the remark, "Mr. So-and-So, your memory fails you on matters of fact." Certainly such a phrasing would help to round off the asperity of the blunt attack. But, after all, would not a "lie" by any other term be just as black? And if the charge is an unjust one, can one make it just by toning down the method of statement?

An important meeting is to be held at the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce on Saturday, from 2.30 to 3.00 p.m.

Baseball, which Lord Balfour is quoted as calling the only great game in the world which we British did not invent, is after all, more a glorified form of our very British game of rounders. It would have been safer to select polo, which we caught from India, or chess, credited to Persia. Court tennis in its early days was far more popular in France than here, and of lawn tennis one authority states that it "was introduced into England in 1887." And lacrosse, is it not a great game, and French-Canadian?

There is a pretty general idea that America is the great country for millionaires and that, though we talk loosely about millionaires in England, we have actually very few. This is hardly borne out by the remarkable income tax figures just published. We have 134 people paying tax on more than £100,000 a year which, at 5 per cent., represents a capital of over two millions. If we take an income of £50,000 as representing a millionaire, then there are at least 520 millionaires in the country. Even this is by no means the whole story, for there are 281 people paying on amounts between £10,000 and £50,000 and 363 between £30,000 and £40,000, and it is probably safe to say that a good many of these are really on the millionaire mark. Altogether we have probably a thousand millionaires.

Says the "New York Evening Post"—Americans in China have thus far been able to avoid turning machine guns and rifles on Chinese mobs. The British, French and Japanese have not been so fortunate, and against them is reflected the wrath of the anti-foreign agitators. As the rabble which has been responsible for threats of violence to foreigners cannot in any sense be reckoned with, America may at any time find herself in the undesirable position of the others. But if any nation comes through the present ruction without being compelled to exert force for protection of its citizens it will undoubtedly be regarded as a special friend of China, and so treated. That will be a piece of good luck rather than good management; but such pieces of good luck form the very essence, in many cases, of international relationships.

Dr. Edward Capps, professor of Greek at Princeton, has announced that the Greek Government has granted a concession for archaeological excavation work in the centre of the old city of Athens to the American School of Classical Studies in that city. He said that more than 40 American universities and colleges would combine in the work.

Scottish people living on Vancouver Island are planning to erect a unique memorial to the two greatest literary figures of their country, Burns and Scott. The memorial will be in the form of a Scottish cottage like that in which Burns was born and familiar in Scott's works. The building will be erected in an easily accessible point in this city so that it may be viewed by the thousands of American tourists who come here every summer. Household utensils and furniture will be brought from Scotland to make the cottage as perfect in every detail as possible. The exterior of the cottage will be an exact reproduction of the little straw-thatched buildings of Burns' time, and the interior will include the large fireplace, spinning wheel and handloom used in those days. The memorial will be erected by a company which leading Scottish residents are forming now. Already a number of Burns and Scott relics have been collected for use in the memorial scheme.

There was quite a lot of envy in the Temple the other day over the fact that a barrister had copied from an American paper the following extracts from his speeches on both sides in the (Gorm murder case):—The Charge.—"The prisoner says he loved Billy McCreck. That is true. He loved him like a father loves his sons and fattens them for a profitable slaughter. He is guilty. Let him hang by the neck till dead!" The Defence.—"I cannot help but liken the prisoner to the Saviour. I cannot help likening the aims of the prosecution to a second Crucifixion. In this instance, the State has a sinister motive. Its unfairness is unparalleled!" Sir Edward Marshall-Hall, I feel, says a London writer, could not rise to heights like that. He is almost judicial, by comparison. Sir Patrick Hastings, Sir Henry Curtis Bennett—their most eloquent flights seem almost childish beside it. The prisoner, I have no doubt, apart from the murder charge, is merely an ordinary person like you and me. He keeps a cat, I expect, or guinea pig.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mrs. A. W. Smith leaves to-day for Chefoo.

Owing to continuous illness, Mrs. M. J. Divecha of Shanghai has left Tsingtao for a long holiday, by which it is hoped she will benefit in health.

Misses Ruth and Jean Hemming, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Hemming, of Tientsin, who have been attending school in England and Canada for two years past, have returned to China.

The engagement is announced of Captain Leslie Edward Lintott, 2-20 Burma Rifles, and Barbara, younger daughter of Mr. W. A. James Wallace, Superintendent of Revenue Surveys, and Mrs. James Wallace, Taiping.

The Bombay Women's Council Management Committee recently warned young European girls against answering advertisements offering alluring jobs outside British India. Certain people, the committee stated, were attempting to entice young European girls away from Bombay.

A funny story about Coddie. In the ordinary way he is not the sort of man to be the centre of fun or to inspire humour in any form; therefore what follows must be regarded as epoch-making! He was entertaining a well-known Englishman to dinner at the White House, and the latter commented on the admirable whisky he was drinking. "That is not whisky," said the President, severely, "it is potato juice!"

In a recent lecture on "How Men Propose," F. G. Fraser, the author, enumerated eight ways in which the trick is done. Youthful, vicarious, humble, pompous, successful, unsuccessful, honest, and dishonest. Fraser, said Mr. Fraser, turned to the audience and asked, "Which of these eight ways do you propose to use?"

Miss Margaret Kennedy, author of "The Constant Nymph," one of the most successful novels of the last year, both in England and America, is engaged to marry a well-known London barrister, D. Davies. Miss Kennedy is twenty-eight. She lives and works in Cornwall, and is now working on a new novel under the guidance of no less a master than Thomas Hardy, a fact which testifies not only to Hardy's vitality in his eighty-sixth year, but to his unquenchable spirit of generosity.

The proceeds of the Singapore Cathedral Carnival, which it seems may be between $9,000 and $10,000, are to be divided one-third towards meeting the Cathedral Diocesan quota for 1925 of $9,000, one-third for the Cathedral General Fund, and one-third to be apportioned amongst St. Andrew's House (the primary beneficiary), St. Mary's Home, St. Andrew's School, St. Andrew's Hospital, and the G.F.S.

The very delicate question of who were the five most notable Britishers during the war has now been tackled by Lord Oxford and Asquith who has never lacked courage in expressing his opinions. As named by him at the Guildhall they are: Earl Jellicoe, who "more than maintained the untarnished glories of the British Navy," Earl Balfour, who commanded the biggest army ever under a British general, Mr. Lloyd George, whose "unique achievement" was "the provision almost instantaneously of a large and rapid" of munitions, Lord Kitchener, who "trained" to our imagination, discipline, Britain's voluntary army, and Sir John Cowans, who "performed" the "glorious" task of "leading" a "regiment" of "volunteers" and "winning" the "Victoria Cross" for "bravery" in "action" against "the enemy" in "the field" of "battle" in "the" "war" of "1914-18".

Prince Henry is now being mentioned in various authoritative quarters as the probable successor to Lord Byng as Governor-General of Canada—this is the surprise Royal appointment to which reference was made some weeks ago. It is only during the last few months that Prince Henry has taken any part in public affairs, and he has shined so excellently that some folk say he will become as good a Royal Ambassador as his cousin, Prince Arthur of Connaught. Prince Henry's short experience of public affairs and his bachelorhood are two points argued against his appointment. If the Prince goes to Canada, however, he is not likely to go as an unmarried man.

Mrs. Coddie barely escaped being run down by four motorcycles during a walk about Swampscott, a leap to the side of the road saving her. She was returning to White Court and had just turned into the private driveway when, four members of the State Constabulary, coming to escort the President to Cambridge, turned into the lane behind her. Driving at a fast clip, according to witnesses, the motorcycle officers were behind her almost before any one was aware. The grinding of brakes and a yell by James Huley, the Secret Service man, brought her to a halt. Mrs. Coddie, her only warning. The detachment proceeded without stopping.

Mrs. Wilkinson, the Labour member for Middlesex, figured in an amusing episode during the House of Commons debate on the Bill of the Widows' Pensions. Bill, Mr. Chamberlain moved the clause that Mrs. Wilkinson was about to speak. She wanted to raise a point of order, and as the question had been put, she could not do so. She said she would not speak, and with that she sat down.

Overcoats.

The masculine fashions for women have their dangers (says a "Daily Express" writer.) The wife of a friend of mine has a new tweed overcoat cut exactly like a man's. The other day her husband took it by mistake as he was hurrying to his office, and put it on going down the stairs. He could not imagine why women in the street smiled at him, until he was about to book his ticket, and thrusting his hand into his pocket, pulled out a flat powder-box instead of a half crown. His wife wore his overcoat and likes it better than her own.

A Veteran Novelist.

Mrs. Alfred Sidgwick, whose new novel, "Humming Bird," is just published, is at present in Paris, collecting atmosphere and local colour for her next book, writes "Gadabout" in the "Daily Chronicle." Each book is an excuse for a journey "to pastures new," said Mrs. Sidgwick. Though she has published nearly 40 novels, she has seldom, if ever, used the same locality for two successive stories. She says that the constant travelling keeps her young, and many of Mrs. Sidgwick's friends do not realise that she is 70, and that she has been writing books for half a century.

Future of Arundel Castle.

There are many rumours concerning the future of beautiful and historic Arundel Castle, the Sussex seat of the Duke of Norfolk. I am able to state that there is no truth in the story that it has been privately disposed of to an American who is seeking a permanent home in this country, nor is it true that any proposal for sale has been decided on. It is not likely that Arundel will be the scene of such distinguished gatherings as it has known—at least, not for a long time to come. The plans of the young Duke are by no means fixed, but judging from what they are at present, he will in all likelihood be much away from the country. He has not contemplated the break-up of the family estates. The Duke of Norfolk is, of course, Hereditary Earl Marshal of England, a post which gives him the supervision of the organisation of a Coronation, and he has other offices besides, which require the upkeep of great family traditions. The present Duke is a quiet, earnest young man with no desire for public life, and still less for the limelight. Friends are kept busy speculating as to his future course, but their curiosity is not satisfied. The possibility of his entering the priesthood of the Roman Church does not seem to be developing.

Vaccine To Prevent Tuberculosis.

Intense interest has been raised in scientific circles by the news that a serious claim has been set up at the French Academy of Medicine to the effect that a means of preventing the development of consumption has at last been discovered. The announcement was made by Dr. Albert Calmette, the assistant director of the Pasteur Institute. The paper embodies the result achieved as the outcome of over 20 years' research into the mechanism of bacilli infection, and the rôle of infection in the evolution of tuberculosis. The results attained in making tests to protect newly born children against tuberculosis by the use of vaccine, which has been called B.C.G., have been constantly favourable. None of the 176 babies, who were vaccinated during the first part of 1922 has died from any tuberculosis, or presumed tubercular infection. Ninety-four of the infants thus vaccinated were examined last month, and all were found in perfect health. The mortality of non-vaccinated infants of less than a year old, who live in similar conditions is 32.6 per cent. in Paris and 24 per cent. for the whole of France. The mortality of infants who live in contaminated families is between 80 and 100 per cent. The method of vaccination adopted is to administer a dose of the new vaccine in a small spoonful of milk every 48 hours from the third to the tenth day after birth. "It appears," Professor Calmette concluded, "that this method of preventing tuberculosis in young children may be considered as offering no danger, and that its efficacy is beyond all doubt." Prof. Leon Bernard, another leading scientific authority, said that the new vaccine is not only administered to children before they are attacked by tuberculosis, but has also not been found to prevent tubercular infection in adults, and consumption.

Mrs. Carnegie at Skibo.

Mrs. Andrew Carnegie has arrived from America for her usual summer stay at Skibo Castle, Sutherlandshire, where she will remain until the end of September (says the "Star.") Like her late husband, the Dunfermline man's son, who emigrated to America, began there as a weaver's assistant, and became a multi-millionaire ironmaster. Mrs. Carnegie is very fond of Skibo, and she is a welcome visitor in the county, for her stay means the spending of a good deal of money in the district. Skibo is a palatial place now to what it was when Mr. Carnegie bought the estate from the Sutherlands. He expended vast sums on the property, made the mansion a most luxurious abode, and, to improve the fishing, established elaborate salmon and trout hatcheries.

Cancer and Cockroaches.

Sir James Cantlie, a well-known parasitologist, makes some remarkable claims which will arouse much interest in his "foreword" to a book dealing with cancer and with certain investigations carried out by Dr. W. L. Sambon, lecturer in the London School of Tropical Medicine. Sir James says that owing to Dr. Sambon's researches "two important facts stand out (1) cancer is a parasitic disease (2) the control of cancer is within our reach." These claims are not widely admitted in the medical profession. On the contrary, it is maintained that this theory of the origin of cancer as being due to a parasite, is not new but is based on the researches of the Danish biologist Fibiger, who 10 years ago published the results of experiments which suggested that cancer in rats is caused by a parasite which infests cockroaches. Fibiger's views may have some basis of fact, but they are not yet generally accepted. They are still subject to test and examination and may be proved or disproved. "Daily Express."

The Salmon Mystery.

What becomes of the young fish when they emerge from the eggs has long been one of the intriguing mysteries of salmon culture—how long they live in the fresh water before going out to sea, and where are their feeding grounds in the salt water? It is supposed that they must live in the open sea, for they are never found in the numerous bays and inlets along the coast. Nor is anything seen of them until their fourth year, when they join in the mad rush for the head waters of the stream. It has been decided, therefore, that in order to trace the ultimate destination of the fish, the British Columbia hatcheries shall attach little metal tags to the tails of 10,000 or 15,000 little fish before their release. These, it is hoped, will enable the experts to ascertain the direction of run of the salmon. A similar experiment has already been tried with success in Alaska, some of the fish released from hatcheries there having been found, along the British Columbia coast, and one actually in a Siberian river! Fishery experts state that a single female fish of 30 lb. weight deposits nearly 30,000 eggs, about 4 per cent. of which hatch.

New Wireless Wonder.

Debates in the British House of Commons with the Premiers of Canada, Australia, and New Zealand taking part by wireless just as if they were present at Westminster. World-wide, constant, and secret telegraphic communication at a cost of no more than twopence or threepence a word. These are among the possibilities claimed for a new wireless invention which is about to be demonstrated. If the tests are fulfilled it is likely to prove the most remarkable development of the past ten years. The invention is a new type of combined transmitter and receiver which can be installed for a little over £250. Fading has hitherto been the great drawback to continuous long-range wireless telegraphy. The secret of preventing fading has, it is said, been solved. This is the basis of the new system's success. Atmospheric conditions have been overcome. Both the sender and receiver are now new. It is nothing like the old system, and experiments have shown that it is not affected by the weather. The new system is being demonstrated by the British Wireless Association, and it is expected that it will revolutionize wireless telegraphy.

A Plant From Ghent.

It is not very often that American nomenclature commends itself to the English taste (says the "Daily Chronicle.") But it must be confessed that it was a happy thought, when, a century and more ago, they dubbed the azalea the upright honey-suckle. Those who visit Kew, where this lovely flower is just now the chief attraction, will note how appropriate the name is, especially to the sweet-scented mollis variety. At Kew azaleas are seen to perfection, but the best sorts came originally from Ghent, where the cultivation of this enchanting flower has long been a thriving industry. The Prince's Advance Lugage. Already some of the many gifts given to the Prince of Wales during his present tour are beginning to reach London, and are being put aside in readiness for the return of His Royal Highness (says a "Daily Chronicle" writer.) Among the presentations made to the Prince are a considerable number of silver and gold cigarette cases. I hear that His Royal Highness is smoking more than ever, and, apparently, the South Africans have noted this fact. Several gold-mounted riding whips have also been given to him by the Colonials, who dearly love a man who is fond of horses.

Chaperoning Sisters.

There are always one or two debutantes who make their entry into society under the wing of a married sister (says the "Weekly Dispatch.") This year Miss Mary Ashley is to do so, her chaperon being Lady Louis Mountbatten. The two sisters are more alike in features than the casual observer would suspect, being often misled by their very different colouring. Lady Louis is extremely dark, while Miss Ashley has hair of the true Titian colour and a very fair skin. Both are tall and graceful, and her young sister seems likely to follow Lady Louis's example in the matter of dress, choosing simple but extraordinarily subtle clothes.

Big Heads.

There is an old Scots story about a young hopeful with a very large head, of which his fond mother said, "It's a grand head to wag in a pulpit" (writes Colophon in "John O' London's Weekly.") Whereupon the more cynical father observed, "Ay, and it would be a grand head for a goalkeeper." I thought of that tale when I read that Anatole France's brain has proved to be of less than normal weight. It is actually 400 grammes lighter than the average weight for a Frenchman of ordinary size—and Anatole France was a tall man. Thackeray's brain, on the other hand, was very much beyond the average weight, a quite abnormally large mass of grey matter. So it seems that the size of a man's head proves nothing. It is the quality and texture of the stuff inside that matters a good deal more. It was observed in the case of Anatole France, as in that of Gambetta, that the convolutions of the brain were much more complicated than is usual.

The Relativity Theory.

In a letter published in "Nature" for May 23 last, Prof. L. Silberstein gives particulars of a repetition at a high level of the famous Michelson-Morley experiment. The object of this experiment was to determine the speed with which the earth moved through the ether, and the negative result recorded led ultimately to the doctrine of relativity, the more ardent exponents of which declared they had no need for an ether, and were inclined to deny its existence. The Michelson-Morley experiment was made at a low level, and the possibility that the ether might in this region be dragged along with the earth was never excluded, although such an assumption involved certain other difficulties, and it was accordingly decided to repeat the experiment at a high level. This work has now been completed by Professor D. C. Miller, who, after a number of preliminary experiments, proceeded to Mount Wilson, and in the course of observations which have extended over four years has obtained a positive result. The "relative speed" of the ether was found to be 10 km. per second, which is about one-tenth of the speed of light. This result is in complete agreement with the theory of relativity, and it is now generally accepted that the ether does not exist, and that the speed of light is constant in all directions.

CHINESE CUSTOMS.

DISCUSSION AT TARIFF CONFERENCE?

AMERICA'S ATTITUDE.

(Reuter's American Service.)

Washington, August 12.
Apropos of the statements from Tokyo that the United States has suggested the inclusion of the Chinese Customs autonomy in the agenda of the Tariff Conference, the "Associated Press" learns that exchanges of views are going on between Tokyo, Washington, London and Paris, in which the information is communicated that the Customs Autonomy might be considered at the Tariff Conference, but this is not officially put forward in any quarter, it being simply communicated that Chinese themselves suggested it.

Washington adopts the position that the Conference should meet without a definite agenda, further than that mentioned in the Treaty, and if a Customs Autonomy is proposed, the American attitude is understood to be one of willingness to consider it with a reservation of the American decision until after the discussion has been held.

NAVAL TOUR.

AMERICANS CREATE GOOD IMPRESSION.

ABSENCE OF "SWAGGER."

(Reuter's Service.)

Wellington, August 12.
Celebrations in honour of the American naval visitors continue. To-day's feature was the march through the city of 2,000 officers and men which was watched with great interest by dense crowds.

The Governor-General and Admiral Coontz took the salute on the steps of Parliament Buildings, where the Premier, members of the Cabinet, and other distinguished people were also present.

The Americans created a good impression, chiefly owing to the absence of "swagger."

Admiral Coontz and his officers were entertained at a State Banquet, the Premier presiding.

CHEUNG CHAU NOTES

Good progress has been made with the new shops on the bund and the 3-storey shop near the market. The walls of the new quarters for the married police are now above the tops of the windows, and a start has been made on the porch of Mr. Rodine's house.

There has been a moving round among some of the inmates of houses to pack in more tightly and leave room for expected visitors.

Dr. and Mrs. Saunders who have been staying at No. 7 expect to leave in a few days for America.

A change has just been made in the staff of the Police Station, the former officer's place having been taken by Lan-Sergt. Winslade.

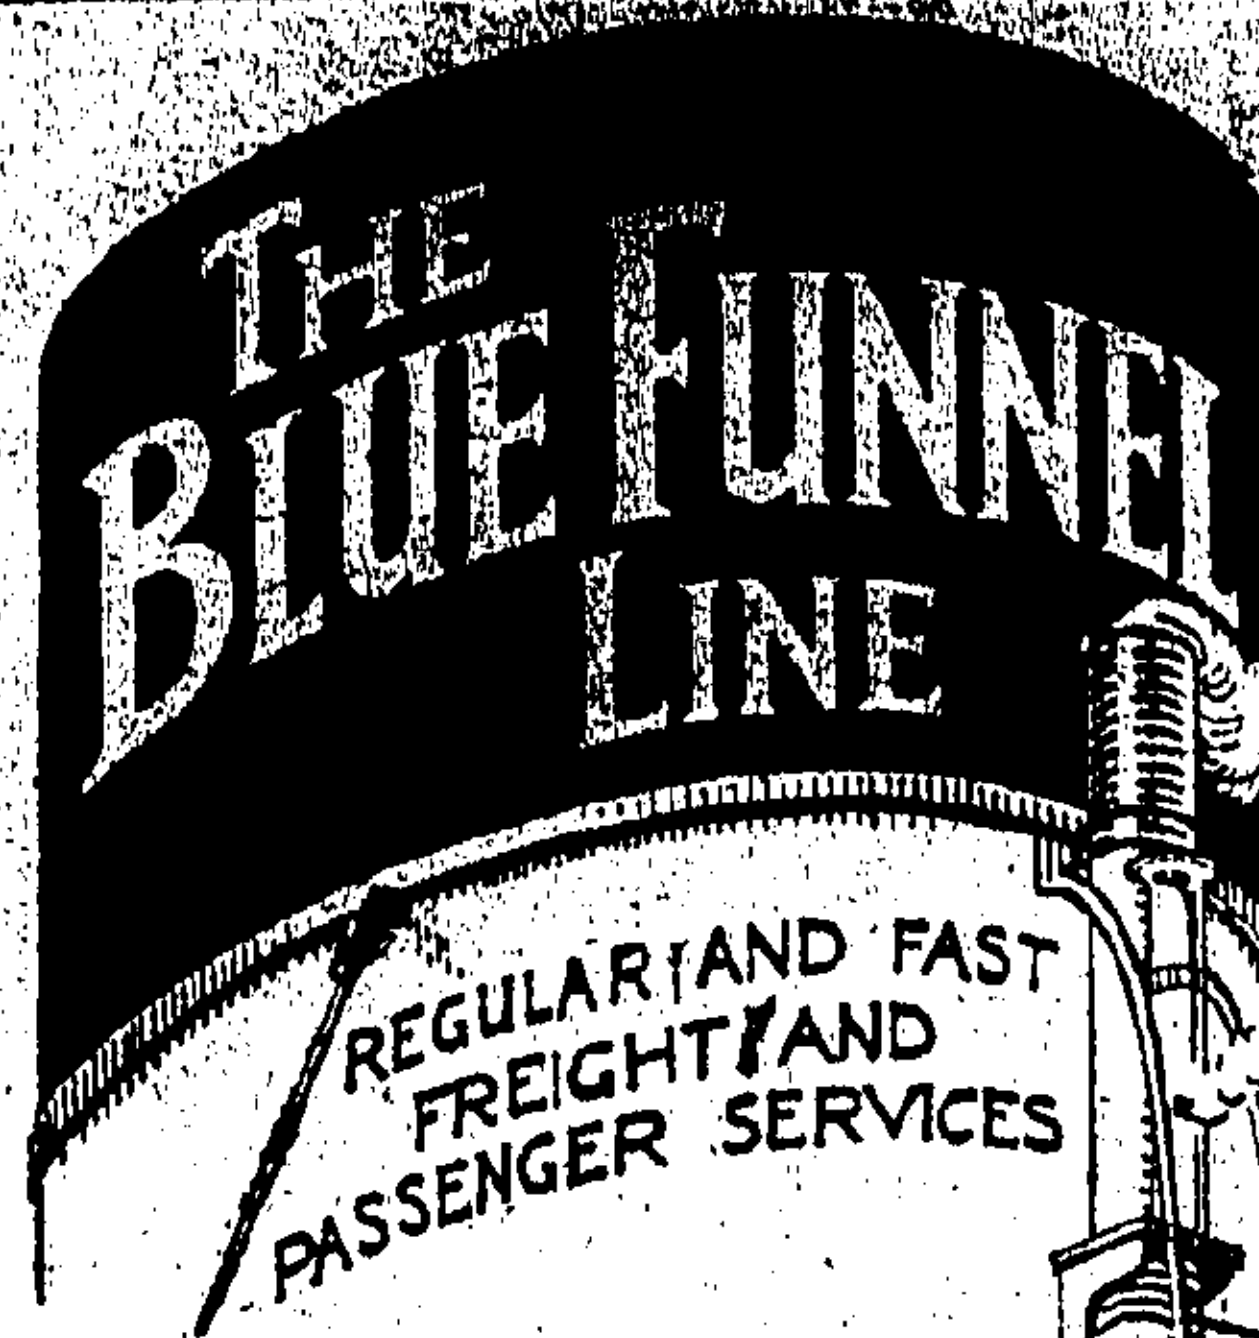

Volunteer duties for the present have been cut down.

The Cheung Chau now goes out at 6 p.m., starting back from Hongkong soon after 7. The morning boat from Hongkong has not yet been resumed.
